

Curriculum Vitae

Dr. Sana Ali Shaqwara

Dr. Sana Ali Mohammad Shaqwara

Born in Nablus in 1954, married to Dr. Yacoub Nasereddin and together they have four children: Dr. Tamara, Dr. Ahmad, Dr. Sara, and Dr. Eng. Mohammad.

Dr. Sana has been interested in community service ever since she was a student at the University of Jordan. She led projects launched by MEU and other institutions in different areas of the Kingdom, including the Badia and in Jordan Valley, as well as remote rural areas and emerging communities.

After graduating with a bachelor's degree in Business Management in 1977, she worked in different companies in her area of studies. Her passion for field work and research, however, led her to occupy positions as an economic researcher in the National Planning Council and the Ministry of Municipal, Rural and Environmental Affairs.

She founded her own business, Shoa'a for Research, Consultations, Publishing and Distribution; "Shoa'a" (ray) being the embodiment of her philosophy in life that derives from optimism and hope. Nevertheless, her partnership with her husband Dr. Yacoub Adel Nasereddin, both in life and in work, made her assume the management of many successful investment companies.

Today, she is the Chairman of the Board of Directors and the Deputy Chairman of the Board of Trustees at Middle East University (MEU), a prominent private university in Jordan that has established grounds for cooperation with several esteemed Arab and international universities.

MEU is one of the investments of YAN Group, which is the mother company of many affiliates specialized in general trade, land and property development, pharmaceuticals, and medical equipment.

For Dr. Sana, social responsibility is her first scope of interest on both the academic and the work levels. This is evident through most of the arbitrated scientific research papers she has published, as well as her membership in local, regional, and international entities and projects concerned with planning and development, including tourism development. Currently, she is the President of the Arabic Network for Promoting Intra Tourism, which fosters the cooperation between tourism authorities both in the Arab world and internationally.

She also participated in many conferences, forums, and workshops related to her fields of interest. Moreover, she has attended various regional and international galleries hosted by her wide network of connections.

Dr. Sana also launched many initiatives that serve local communities and different sectors, several of which were aimed at empowering women, dispersing the values of democracy and human rights, developing tourist facilities and products - including accessible tourism - and young leadership development to empower the youth to uphold public responsibilities.

She received numerous awards and certificates of appreciation from Jordanian, Arab and international authorities in recognition of her strong commitment to the principles she believes in and works for.
